Highlights

French debate

With a unanimous vote, Snowdon Township said no to bilingualism. The township also wants to curb the influx of French language correspondence from the government in order to save costs. Please see page 2.

Costly errors

Landowners will be expected to pay to correct mapping errors that mistakenly identifies certain lands in Anson Hindon and Minden with 'hazard' zoning. Please see page 6.

Little comfort

The latest report on county restructuring provides no comfort to small municipalities striving to maintain their identity. Please see page 7.

Rotary exchange

The move from the city life in Spain to small-town life in Minden has been a trying experience for Rotary Exchange student Jose Castell. Please see page 25.

High steppin'

Thirteen-year-old Sherry Rivard won acclaim on February 10 when she placed among the top Highland Dancers at a competition in Don Mills.

In just her third competition, the young Minden dancer managed to place second in the Sword Dancing category, third in Seantruibhas and fourth in Highland Fling.

Sherry is one of several students who practice under the guidance of teacher Faith Aggett.

Snowdon by-law targets wreckers

All vehicles may soon have to be removed from a salvage yard on the shore of South Lake now that Snowdon Township has passed a property standards by-law.

Snowdon's by-law enforcement officer will be approaching Bill Lyddiatt, owner of Lyddiatt's Towing, to explain the ramifications of the new by-law, which was passed at last Monday's council meeting.

According to municipal clerk Ernie Hills, the new by-law applies specifically to derelict vehicles in the township. Essentially, he said, the by-law was designed to deal with Lyddiatt's wrecking yard, but it applies to any property owner who has derelict vehicles on their lands.

The by-law, which was passed with no debate, is accompanied by a statement of policy and procedure for its administration.

After the unanimous passage of this by-law, Reeve George Simmons said "we should have direction on the long-overdue clean-up," evidently referring to Lyddiatt's. He said by-law officer Eric Stearns should get on it right away, "since it's been on the go since November."

For several months, the South Lake Association of Cottagers and Residents (SLACAR) Cottagers Association has been urging council to take some action to shut down the wrecking yard and have the vehicles removed. However, because there was no property standards by-law in place, there was little council could do.

Council has been working for some time to establish a by-law to deal with this situation without opening the door to a flood of complaints from people who might wish to force other township residents to improve the appearance of their properties.

The procedural statement that accompanies this by-law stipulates that all complaints must be submitted in writing for council's consideration. Whether or not

Lutterworth joins English-only side

Lutterworth Township has added its name to the list of municipalities declaring English as their sole working language.

At the recommendation of Councillor Lisa Mercer, Lutterworth Council unanimously passed a resolution identifying English as the language of business for the municipal office.

Lutterworth is the fourth Haliburton County municipality to take this action. Stanhope Township accomplished this through a referendum in the last municipal elections. Glamorgan Township passed a resolution to this effect in February. And Snowdon Township addressed this issue with a by-law at its meeting last Monday.

"I think it's something that municipalities should get involved in," Mercer said. She noted that Lutterworth had previously supported a resolution from the City of Orillia that questioned the constitutionality of the government's French Language Services Act.

Mercer provided a delicately-worded resolution that recognizes the various ethnic groups, cultures and languages that make up the population of the township. The resolution says that English has historically been the language of business for the municipality.

Snowdon says English-only based on costs

Council has also asked the province to stop sending duplicate correspondence in French

Snowdon Township is sending a message—in English—to the province that it opposes the government's French Language Services Act.

Council unanimously endorsed a by-law last Monday that declares English as the sole language of business at the municipal office.

Councillors went a step further in their opposition to the gradual introduction of bilingualism in Ontario by asking the government to quit sending them duplicate correspondence in French.

The province says the French Language Services Act (Bill 8) has no application in townships like Snowdon, where francophones make up less than 10 per cent of the population. However, Snowdon councillors aren't convinced.

"It impacts on us," said councillor Jack Hills. "We collect taxes for the board of education," he reasoned. "Of course it impacts on us and anyone who says different is a liar."

Reeve George Simmons' main objection to expanded French services is the costs involved. "The tax dollar is the big crunch," he said. "There is massive spending on French," he said, comparing it to the cost of converting Canada's system of weights and measures from Imperial to metric.

Simmons said residents of Haliburton County are already looking at big municipal tax hikes this year. He said the school board will be introducing a budget that will create a 16 per cent tax increase, the County will be asking for another 10 per cent and Snowdon Township will be increasing its taxes by about 16 per cent. "How much taxes can people withstand?" he asked.

Although debate on expanded French language services has deteriorated into an English versus French issue in many parts of the province, the Snowdon Reeve insisted there is no "bigotry" involved in the passage of its English-only bylaw.

"A lot of people are emphasizing this and will say it's bigotry," said Simmons. Instead, he said the by-law is a statement. "There has to be main force in small places taken," he said.

"... we haven't got too big of a voice, but we got a little one," said Simmons.

Councillor Hills is expecting the Snowdon by-law will create a backlash from the media.

"If and when we pass this, we'll be subjected to a lot of flack from the various media," said Hills. He was highly critical of the way the media has handled this issue, citing a Toronto Star column and a CBC interview as evidence.

"We'll be bashed by the media and I want you all to understand that," said Hills.

While introducing the by-law, municipal clerk Ernie Hills said he has reviewed the Act and determined that it doesn't affect municipalities, although it does allow regions and counties to declare themselves bilingual.

Bill 8 applies only to provincial government services in certain areas of the province where the francophone population constitutes at least 10 per cent of the overall population. It also applies in urban areas with at least 5,000 francophones.

In addition to passing the by-law to declare English as the language of business for the municipality, Deputy Reeve Dwain Wruth suggested the township should try to curtail the unnecessary influx of French correspondence. He said most of the literature coming from the government comes in both English and French, even though it is not called for.

Wruth said the government is spending money on the printing and mailing of literature in both languages when most municipalities require it in only one language.

He suggested a resolution be sent to the Association of Municipalities of Ontario (AMO) and Rural Ontario Municipalities Association (ROMA) asking the governments not to send material in both languages unless it is requested. He said this would cut down on costs and reduce the amount of waste going into the dumps.

Stanhope man honoured for recreation promotion

A Stanhope Township man has been honoured for his dedication to the promotion of recreation in the Township.

John Dron, who has served for more than four years on the township's recreation committee, received the Ontario Municipal Recreation Association Volunteer Service Award last Wednesday.

Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis made the presentation during a regular council meeting. He praised Dron for his commitment to ensuring recreational activities and facilities are available in Stanhope Township.

Dron joined the recreation committee in January of 1985 and has continued to serve for the past four years. For the past three years, Dron has acted as chairman of this committee.

During these years, said Davis, Dron has made many contributions to recreational activities in Stanhope. Examples his involvement include the organization of fundraising events, chairmanship of the township Fun Day, and the introduction of an annual Halloween party.

As a result of the fund-raising activities that Dron has been involved with, the township has been able to buy new recreational facilities. These new facilities include children's playground equipment, and a multi-purpose recreational pad.

Under Dron's chairmanship, the committee has also been involved in the organization of public meetings on drug and alcohol abuse, promotion of the Red Cross swim program and children's day camp.

Townships say no

One by one, municipalities throughout Haliburton County are wisely standing up to be counted as opponents of perceived moves to force bilingualism upon them.

In the past week we saw two more townships add their names to the growing list of municipalities to declare English as their sole language of business. On the prompting of Reeve George Simmons, Snowdon declared itself an English-speaking municipality on Monday. And on Thursday, Lutterworth followed suit with a resolution of its own. Glamorgan and Stanhope townships had previously accomplished this task (Stanhope by referendum and Glamorgan by resolution), bringing the total number of Highlands municipalities in opposition to four.

A resolution or by-law declaring English as the official language of business has no tangible affect here, since the province's French Language Services Act does not apply to municipalities. However, the moves do send out a clear message to the province that English-speaking municipalities are digging in their heels and getting ready to ward off the senseless introduction of French services in areas where the demand is negligible.

Many view such moves as racially-inspired reactions to the expansion of French language services in the province. However, there is clearly no 'bigotry' involved in the decisions of these four townships to maintain English as their language of choice.

Instead, the decisions are based on common sense. With the demand (or lack thereof) for bilingualism weighted against the cost to provide these services, the scale tips heavily down on the side of cost.

These declarations by local municipalities and the dozens of others across the province is a strong indication that the English-speaking people of this province are becoming increasingly frustrated by the growing demand for bilingualism. The declarations serve little purpose at this time, but perhaps this backlash will persuade the provincial government to think twice before it pushes further with its French language requirements.

Bradamore welcomed to this side of the desk

Editor:

In response to Brad Bradamore's letter of February 5, 1990. How does it feel to be "royally jerked around for no apparent reason other than some people don't understand or don't want to understand"? I recall the day I sat across from your desk and you told me if I wanted to get my property rezoned that you would fight me to the very end. You said that I would have to appeal council's decision to the Ontario Municipal Board which would have taken years and thousands of dollars to get approval. You talk of Ray Moore, Dean Elliott, Verne Graham and Bern Berry being judges of the Gong Show when you used to be a judge yourself.

Welcome to the other side of the desk.

Aging population still worships youth

"Few people know how to be old."

The great French belle lettrist La Rochefoucauld made the above observation 'way back in the 17th century. I don't think we've learned a lot about aging in the ensuing three hundred years.

You're aging, I'm aging. The entire population of this country is inexorably getting older. More than two and a half million Canadians are 65 or over. That's nearly three times more than it was just 55 years ago. Within ten years there will be more than four million Canadians eligible for the old age

And still we bend our creaky knees to worship at the Altar of Youth. Middle-agers spend fortunes and risk their health to have their saggy flesh tightened up and their flab hoovered away. The TV spews out a cornucopia of apple-cheeked, bright-eyed youngsters with nary a wrinkle or double chin in sight. Sales of "Hate-that-grey-wash-it-away" hair dye are booming. Corsets and girdles move briskly. Our movie stars are kids and so are our sports heroes. NHL defencemen barely out of their twenties are referred to as grizzled veterans. Canadian Decathlon champ Dave Steen retired from active competition this year. Claims he's too old to take on the world's best any more.

Steen is all of 30.

I tell you, it could be a mighty depressing world

Board's priority should be fresh air at any price

Editor:

I read with dismay the report on "Air Quality" in the Archie Stouffer School Annex.

The children and teachers spend the better part of 30 hours a week in an atmosphere that is obviously not conducive to health and well being. Although these people are not being "poisoned", they are in an environment that does not support their learning potential or their optional health. I am quite certain that drowsy people are also suffering other effects as well, in this building that has air quality that is unacceptable to both the Ministry of Health and the Ministry of Labour.

Air exchange technology is not new, or complex. In fact, the new building code (1990) will stipulate these devices for residential use. I can buy an air exchanger for a house for approximately $800.00. Each room could be serviced by a separate unit with grouped air intake and exhaust outlets (to reduce holes on the building) for $5,000 plus installation. I find Mr. Bradley's $16,000 estimate to be extreme. The centralized big bucks, super engineered, air system at the Hodgson School still does not function well, after years of tinkering. I think the job can be done reasonably.

Also, it should be noted that the IGA annex has classrooms that have no windows. It is my understanding that the owner is open to modifications. It certainly would increase the value of the property to have these added and improvements to the building could surely be deducted from the rental of the space.

I think it is time that the Board of Education considered that the people they are serving are the children of the county, not the taxpayers. I would be happy to accept the added costs if I knew that perspective was in place. The long range benefits of such a philosophy can be calculated in less absenteeism, happier teachers, quieter bus rides, better parent/school relations, more volunteers in the schools, and better labour relations between teachers and board. The priority should be the health and well-being of the children and those entrusted with their care and learning.

I commend the Archie Stouffer Home and School for their stand and pray that the board will do "the right thing". For me there is no issue here. Fresh air cannot have a price.

Haliburton.

Ecological destruction result of value system

At a recent family dinner, conversation got around to the 14 women murdered in Montreal by Marc Lepine.

Two women argued forcefully that the massacre must be seen in the context of sexism and violence against women ingrained in our society.

"Lepine's act against women was like a white man killing black people, then telling the world he did it because they were black," one of them said.

Two men at the table (who love the women) deplored the murders of course but complained such arguments only foster hatred between the sexes.

"Lepine acted alone and he was crazy," one argued, "you can't generalize on that."

"I'm sure there was much more wife beating and abuse in the past than there is now," the other said, "we're just more aware through the media."

Murder or suicide is often rationalized as the act of a deranged mind, an isolated case.

But what of the epidemic of suicides, for example among native people across Canada? Individuals may act on a seemingly irrational impulse, but the root cause is a long history of oppression and racism against natives that continues to the present.

When James Meredith (the first black student at the University of Mississippi) and Martin Luther

by Dr. David Suzuki

King were shot, no one could deny it was the consequence of racism.

You couldn't argue that the gunmen were demented so they were only aberrations, that things were a lot worse in the past or that crying racism only creates more hatred.

Americans have had to confront the history of racism in themselves and their society.

It may not be pleasant to examine the deep recesses of oneself to encounter beliefs and prejudices that can no longer be held in a world of greater awareness and sensitivity.

But it has to be done to bring about change.

Like murder and suicide of native and black people, violence against women must be understood as a predictable consequence of the sexism deep within our culture and - it hurts to admit - in many of us.

The discussion about Lepine and sexism became more heated and emotional and it was clear that as existing values and power structure are threatened, people react with a vigor that is directly proportional to the threat.

It's the same with the environmental movement.

Global ecological destruction is a direct result of the value and belief systems of our economic, political, social and military institutions.

Resolution of the ecocrisis will require among other things, an end to economic growth, greater local autonomy, decreased consumption, protection of the wilderness and biodiversity, reduction in population, a halt to dumping waste into air, water and soil so it's no wonder there's resistance to a serious attempt to correct the problems.

As the environment worsens, disease, climate change, economic status quo will fight all the harder to resist change.

For example, as forests are lost to logging, dams, fire and development, the remainder become all the more precious and the debate over their future correspondingly rancorous.

In the Amazon rainforest of Brazil, a thousand union leaders, Indians, church leaders, peasants and rubber tappers have been murdered in the past decade.

(more on page 8)

for those of us who risk hyperventilation every time we try to blow out the forest of candles on our birthday cakes.

If it weren't for guys like Charlie and Phil.

Who're they, you ask? Well, Charlie is Charles Watson, a lean and rangy-looking guy with well-muscled arms, legs like pistons and as much fat on his body as Kojak has hair on his head. Charlie used to be a longshoreman, but he gave that up and now makes his home on Salt Spring Island in B.C.

For the past few years, Charlie's been spending a fair bit of time peering over the handlebars of his bicycle.

Quite a chunk of time, actually. Charlie pedals at least 600 miles a month--sometimes as much as a thousand. One day last year, Charlie bicycled 75 miles straight.

Which was kind of fitting. That day happened to be Charlie's 75th birthday.

Charlie's a familiar institution on the hilly roads of Salt Spring island but he's a foreign two-wheeled phenomenon to the white-coated statisticians at the Aerobics International Research Society of Dallas, Texas. They monitor Charlie's bike exploits (he sends them a log of his workouts). Each month, Charlie tops the rankings of all the exercising North Americans in his age class.

There's another guy who provides inspiration to all backsliding middle-aged Canadians. His name is Phil Latulippe. Phil lives in Loretteville, Quebec and I'm not exactly sure what Phil's up to these days. Possible soaking his feet in a big tub of hot water and Epsom salts. He's earned it.

I do know that six months ago, Phil was dipping his sneakers in the cold water of Halifax harbour.

It was kind of a celebration for Phil. He'd just got in from Vancouver.

By foot.

Phil jogged more than 4,000 miles in 134 days.

I don't know about you, but I've got as good a shot at breast-stroking up Niagara Falls as I have of running across Canada. I see spots in fronts of my eyes just bending over to peer in the vegetable crisper.

But there's more to the story of Phenomenal Phil.

For one thing, this is not his first time. He ran across Canada from east to west way back in 1981.

And for another thing, Phil's birth certificate says that he was born in 1919. He's 71 years old.

That does it for me. I'm going to start running. My doctor's given me the go-ahead.

He says it's okay for me to start chasing women. As long as they're going downhill.

Landowners will pay for mapping errors

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The inclusion of hazard land zoning in Minden's official plan is coming back to haunt the Planning Advisory Committee.

The designation was included in the official plan when the document was developed five years ago at the insistence of the Ministry of Natural Resources.

The ministry wanted to identify low lying areas that are swampy or prone to flooding and restrict development in those areas.

Although property zoned as hazard land can be used for agricultural, recreational or conservation purposes, no commercial or residential development is allowed.

But problems have arisen over the accuracy of some of the maps that designate hazard land. Because the maps were based upon aerial photographs of the township, some areas have been designated hazard land even though on site inspections reveal they are not realistically prone to flooding.

The Ministry of Natural Resources will redefine the lines on the map, if subsequent inspections prove hazard land zoning is unfounded, but land owners still have to bear the costly burden of having their land rezoned and the designation changed under the official plan.

At last Wednesday's meeting of the planning committee, members were faced with a severance application for a piece of property which is designated hazard land in the official plan, even though the ministry has since determined the property is not prone to flooding.

The property, owned by Neill McKenzie and Pat Pagliuso, is located in Anson township.

When the initial mapping was done, based on the aerial photographs, almost the entire piece of property was designated hazard land and zoned as such in the zoning by-law and official plan.

However, at the request of the property owners the ministry conducted an on-site inspection and discovered the original maps were in error. They limited the hazard land boundaries to an area just around the Beaver Creek, which runs through the back of the property.

'It's not swampland but they're still being punished for the mistake,' says Planning Advisory Committee member Jim Garbutt.

This left the planning committee with a severance application for a property that the ministry no longer considered to be hazard land, but which can't be developed because of the hazard land designation under the official plan and rezoning by-law.

The applicants have the option of applying for a rezoning and official plan amendment, but the cost of the process could run as high as $2,500. And because an official plan amendment must be approved by the Minister of Municipal Affairs, it is a lengthy process.

Other than the hazard land designation, committee member Verne Graham said McKenzie and Pagliuso's application was straight forward and would not otherwise cause a problem.

"It obvious that the hazard land is crazy, if you look at the property," said Jim Garbutt. "It's not swamp land, but they're still being punished for the mistake."

By-law officer Tom Hubercheck said that, according to the ministry, once the hazard land boundaries are redefined, they are no longer concerned with the zoning or official plan designation.

If this is the case, committee members wondered why the ministry insisted hazard land designation be part of the official plan in the first place.

"They stuck us with it, told us we have to adhere to it, and now they're backing off," said Bill Payne.

Minden's official plan is due for a revision this year because it is five years old. As part of that revision, the committee thinks the hazard land designation should be altered to allow more flexibility in correcting improperly designated properties.

Currently the official plan requires that any property must go through an official plan amendment and a rezoning before the hazard land designation can be removed. A change in the plan could mean that only a rezoning would be required, not an official plan amendment.

A rezoning costs only $800 to $1,000 and is dealt with locally so it doesn't take as long as an official plan amendment.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said the township applied for financial assistance from the province last year to have the official plan review, but the application for funding was turned down.

The revision process costs $30,000 to $40,000, and because council has not set the 1990 budget yet, Berry said he doesn't know if money will be set aside for the review or not.

The Ministry of Natural Resources has the final say on the rezoning of hazard lands. Because it was ministry inspectors who changed the hazard land boundaries on the McKenzie/Pagliuso property they shouldn't have any objection to the zoning change.

But according to municipal planner Bob Lehman, any attempt to rezone the property without an accompanying official plan amendment would be in contravention of the official plan.

"The MNR has given clearance, it's our official plan that's in the way," said Graham.

"We have no control over the official plan on hazard lands," said Payne. "We've got to recommend that an official plan amendment and rezoning take place."

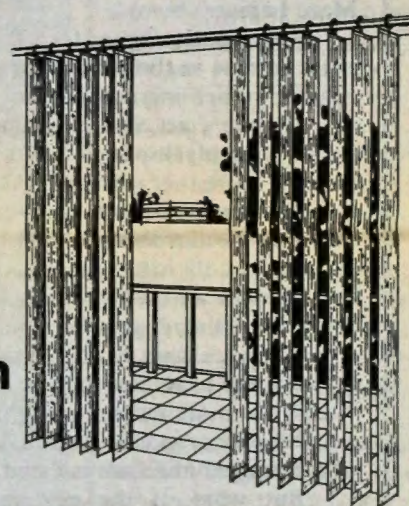

The committee finally approved the severance application, conditional upon an official plan amendment and a rezoning taking place.

This leaves the land owners with the option of spending the money on the amendment themselves, or waiting for the township to conduct it's review of the official plan and having the need for an amendment eliminated.

Resident finds no comfort in report

Alex Stevenson says restructuring will weaken smaller municipalities

The province's initiative to restructure county government again came under scrutiny at Wednesday's Stanhope Township Council meeting.

"In the interest of strengthening the county, they're destroying the municipalities," Stanhope resident Alex Stevenson said. He was responding to the latest report from the Ministry of Municipal Affairs on county government in Ontario.

Stevenson, who wants the ministry to recognize seasonal residents in its figuring for minimum population for municipalities, said this new report fails to address the issue.

"There's absolutely no comfort in it for small municipalities," Stevenson told council. He said he has written the ministry asking for information and stating that seasonal residents should not be "disenfranchised" in this process.

Stevenson's main concern revolves around the ministry's suggestion that municipalities need a minimum population of 4,000 to be viable. Unless seasonal residents are included in the population count, Stanhope falls well short of this figure.

The new report is entitled 'Toward an Ideal County, Principles and Programs for a strong County Government System in Ontario.' It is mainly reaffirmation of information and recommendations that have been published in earlier reports.

In regard to population size, report says the recommendation that counties consider a minimum population base of 4,000 as a guideline for a viable local municipality has caused much debate.

"A minimum population figure is not suggested here," the report says. "However, it should be recognized that under the principles for strong local municipalities . . . 4,000 in many instances would be too small to encompass a natural service area or provide an adequate financial base for the services demanded, just as it would be unnecessarily large or inappropriate in several others."

Although this statement indicates a standard minimum population base may be inappropriate, Stevenson insists that area residents should be ready to fight to protect what they have.

"People better get used to doing a bit of howling over the next few years if they're not prepared to take this," he said.

Stevenson said Stanhope Township provides excellent services to its residents. "I don't know what more they could want of a township."

Councillor Murray Daniels said it is important municipalities participate in the process. He said the ministry is giving municipalities the chance to provide input. If the county and municipalities fail to take the initiative, he said they will find the ministry telling them what to do.

PAC approves severances for Bradamore's plaza plan

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The Planning Advisory Committee has given conditional approval to a controversial development on the Bobcaygeon Road.

At last Wednesday's meeting, the committee approved a severance application by Brad Bradamore for a property on which Bradamore hopes to develop a commercial plaza.

The application has led to several disputes between Bradamore and members of both the planning committee and council.

The application was turned down at last month's planning meeting and Bradamore appealed the decision to council two weeks ago.

Council agreed to reconsider the application, in conjunction with the planning committee, provided Bradamore presents a more detailed proposal of his plans for the property.

Bradamore attended Wednesday's planning meeting armed with preliminary sketches of the plaza he hopes to build.

The three-story project will include three commercial units at street level and three apartments above. Bradamore also has long-range plans of adding a fourth unit to the development which would include another commercial unit and another apartment.

The site of the development is on Bobcaygeon road, in front of Bradamore's office and home, across the street from Guardian Drugs. Initial excavation of the site has already begun.

The planning committee initially turned down Bradamore's request at its January 18 meeting because the members felt the project should be included in a plan of subdivision with developments to a property owned by Bradamore's wife, Erika.

The township has since received legal advice that Bradamore and his wife do not need to have their developments considered simultaneously, and the two properties should be dealt with indi-

Plans unveiled for new Halls Lake restaurant

A new restaurant may be opening in Halls Lake if the developer sees his plans through to completion.

Bill Jordan approached Stanhope Township Council Wednesday for preliminary approval to have his property rezoned to Commercial. After listening to the proposal, the consensus of council was that there would be no objections.

Jordan says he hopes to establish an "upscale" restaurant on the property he is in the process of buying. In addition, he hopes to establish "trading post" on the three-acre property, immediately south of Happy Holiday Variety on Highway 35.

Jordan said he wanted to find out if council would be supportive of his plans before proceeding any further. Without the support of council, there would be no use in going ahead with his plans, he said.

In addition to the restaurant and trading post, Jordan said he may also set up a real estate office.

The property is presently zoned "Hamlet Residential" but council had no objections to it being rezoned to commercial. Councillor Fred Gardiner noted there are commercial properties in the immediate area and said Jordan's proposal would fit in well with those.

Because a Commercial zoning allows for a wide variety of activities, township administrator Gerald Bain asked if Jordan would have any objection to having the property rezoned to specifically allow for the developments he has in mind. Jordan said he has no objection to this suggestion.

Environment war heating up

Like Chico Mendes, each must be seen as a casualty in a global war over the fate of the ecosphere.

In Canada too, things are heating up.

Environmentalists are frequently denigrated by their opponents as luddites, tree huggers, outside agitators, troublemakers, etc.

Canfor president Peter Bentley labels them "anti-everythings" while MacMillan-Bloedel president Adam Zimmerman calls them "terrorists".

Communities are being torn apart, merchants boycotted and individuals beaten over contentious issues.

A federal MP told me his life was threatened because of his environmental stands.

During the fight to stop logging in South Moresby in the Queen Charlotte Island, I went jogging along a road outside of Sandspit, the main logging community.

Someone in a pickup spotted me, pulled alongside and edged over until he had forced me into the ditch.

Feminism and environmentalism represent profound threats to the current order and will elicit a strong reaction and vociferous denial from many quarters.

But the aim in confronting the issues is not to exacerbate divisions and create adversaries—we are all in it together and we all have to change.

The real issue is our daughters and sons and the kind of society and planet that we choose to leave them.

MNR jobs available

A good supply of job opportunities for students will make it difficult to find students to work under a Ministry of Natural Resources summer program.

In response to correspondence from the ministry in regards to its Environmental Youth Corps Program, Stanhope Councillors said it is unlikely they would be able to attract enough students to carry out a project.

The ministry's program provides municipalities with funding for youths to carry out summer projects. However, the wages offered amount to about $5 per hour, said Administrator Gerald Bain. With plenty of openings in the county at a higher pay scale, council felt it would be difficult to interest students in this program unless the municipality was willing to subsidize the pay.

Councillor Ann Barker said a useful project that might fit into the guidelines of this program would be to map out all the private sewage disposal systems in the township. Similar work has been done by the Ministry of Environment on several of the lakes Stanhope, she said, but this mapping includes only shoreline properties.

Bain said he has been in contact with the ministry regarding this program and it was suggested that he contact the Frost Centre to see if they might have a joint project in mind.

the township has put in claims for a large accident each year for three consecutive years. Three large claims for lifetime pensions were paid out three years in a row, he said.

Although this seems to put the township in position for a penalty, Bain said there is a clause in the board's criteria which says that if there is one substantial claim in a given year that affects the township's overall claim, it should be discounted. This is case in Stanhope, said Bain.

Stanhope will appeal $8,000 WCB penalty at March hearing

Stanhope Township will be making a final appeal to the Workers Compensation Board to get around an $8,000 penalty that has been imposed.

Township administrator Gerald Bain said the board is allowing for one more hearing on March 22 in Toronto. Reeve Harry Davis suggested the township attend this hearing and be represented by its solicitor.

Bain said the penalty is based on the township's accident record. He said

Council asked to over-turn decision of PAC committee

On that basis, Bradamore appeared at the February 8 council meeting asking that the planning committee be overruled and the severances granted.

During the course of the discussion, Bradamore had a confrontation with Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry who accused the developer of being a land speculator who flips property instead of developing it.

Berry based his accusations on the fact that Bradamore sold two similar development sites on the Bobcaygeon Road after securing municipal approval.

One site was sold to Bruce Harris and the other was sold to Doug Johnson and Ted Reid, who plan to construct a commercial plaza on the site.

In turn, Bradamore accused planning members Verne Graham and Dean Elliott of having a conflict of interest in his proposal because they own property within 400 feet of the development site. He also claimed members of the committee were interfering in his development by contacting the real estate broker who is representing him in the development.

Berry dismissed Bradamore's demand that Graham and Elliott be removed from the planning committee.

Council did not overturn the planning committee's decision but they did agree to meet with Bradamore and the committee and try to work out a solution.

That meeting, held on Wednesday, saw the committee approve Bradamore's severances conditional on approval of a complete site plan by council.

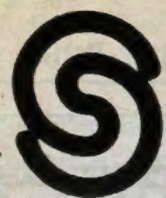

Berry asked how the township could ensure Bradamore's development plans were followed through if the property is sold.

Graham said the site plan agreement will be registered on title, and will be binding on anyone who buys the property.

Bradamore assured the committee and council members that he intends to follow through on his project. "I'm going to start just as soon as I get approval, just to prove I can do it," said Bradamore.

Given the fact that excavation has already started, Maher told Bradamore that "in actual fact it's already underway."

Bradamore said he hopes to be in a position to present a detailed site plan at the next council meeting.

Theatre group will compete

For the first time since its inception, the Highlands Little Theatre group is on the final leg of rehearsal for a production entered in a competition.

A Pulitzer Prize Winning Drama with the awesome title: "The Effects of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" is now undergoing a couple of weeks of polishing prior to its local premiere on March 1.

The competition is under the auspices of the Eastern Ontario Drama League, which will judge the play during one of the three performances at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on March 1, 2, and 3.

"We feel that we have a hard-working core of acting talent in Haliburton County," says Director Nancy Robichaud, "and the way the rehearsals are progressing on "Marigolds", there appears to be an even chance that the production could be invited to perform in Peterborough."

Reports on the steadily-improving calibre of performance by the Highlands Little Theatre Players indicate they have reached a new threshold of achievement with the presentation of "Barefoot in the Park" which delighted audiences at HHSS last fall. As a result, they are planning to stage more ambitious productions.

"I think our group has reached a level of ability that requires some competitive adjudication to help keep us on our toes," says Heather Scully, star of "Marigolds". "We have nowhere to go but up," she states firmly, "and competing with out-of-town theatre groups should stimulate our confidence; regardless of our standing in the contest."

An unusual feature of "Marigolds" is the participation of three members of the HHSS Drama Club. Erin Lynch, Sarah Stouffer and Catya Hynard are all students of HHSS. Two of them, Eric and Sarah, have key roles in "Marigolds", and all three are approaching their parts with attitudes bordering on professionalism. The girls say they love what they are doing.

The acting ability of Debra Dart shines in the role of a sickly old woman who says nothing but projects a world of meaning with a movement of the head or a myopic stare. Those who saw her lively performance in "Barefoot" will appreciate the acting range of this talented Little Theatre veteran.

Star of "The Effect of Gamma Rays on the Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" is Heather Scully. A long-time member of the Highlands Little Theatre, Scully has emerged as one of the finest actresses in the group.

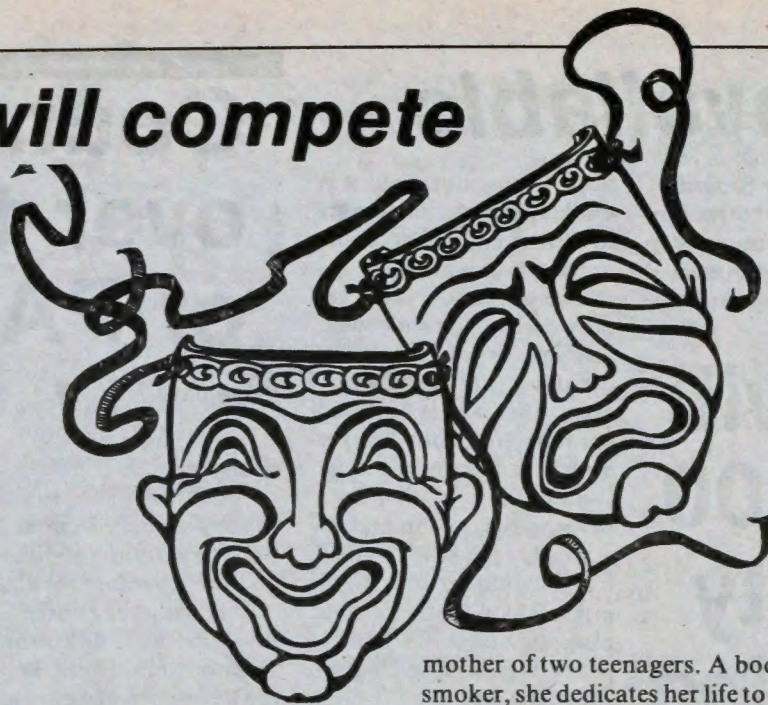

Starting her acting career with ingenu roles, she now has the pivotal part in "Marigolds" as a self-centred, mouthy mother of two teenagers. A boozy chain-smoker, she dedicates her life to inhibiting any self-motivated activities on the part of her daughters. With nearly half the total script to master, Scully emotes through several lengthy monologues and is the anchor person for much demanding dialogue.

Rounding out the cast is Peter, a home-grown cottontail whose main activity seems to be upstaging the rest of the players.

Theatre fans in Haliburton County are in for a dramatic treat during the evenings of March 1, 2, and 3. For those who have never attended a Highlands Little Theatre show - try it, you might even like it.

Tickets are available at the door at $6 for adults and $5 for students and seniors. Advance tickets can be purchased for $5 for adults and $4 for students and seniors at the following locations: Paulette's and County Commercial Printers in Haliburton; The Store Room in Minden and from Members of the Highlands Little Theatre.

Fire protection fees hiked

Substantial increases in fire protection costs proved to be contagious when this year's agreements were negotiated.

Monmouth township increase the stand-by fee charged to Dysart et al by $1,000 and Dysart responded by levying similar increases to both Snowdon and Glamorgan.

Snowdon is facing an increase of $1,000 over last year to $3,500 and Glamorgan is being charged $500 more for a total of $2,000.

Dysart council initially requested that Monmouth reconsider the $1,000 increase in stand-by fees, but Reeve Bill Davis says that after discussing the matter with Monmouth Reeve Keith Tallman, it was agreed Dysart would pay the full amount of $6,000.

Davis says Monmouth increased the fee to help pay for a new fire truck they are hoping to purchase. Dysart bought a new truck last year and Davis says he can "understand where Monmouth is coming from."

Approval given for large dock on Little Hawk Lake

The owner of Oakview Lodge on Little Hawk Lake has been given approval to install a 250-foot dock again this year, provided there are no objections from his neighbours or the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Several area residents attended last Wednesday's Stanhope Township Council meeting to express concerns about alternate plans that would have seen Mr. Hughson's dock extended from the existing government dock. Township administrator Gerald Bain said area residents were concerned that boating traffic would be hampered if this dock were to be connected to the government dock.

Hughson came with three proposals, two of which involved extensions to the government dock. The third proposal, which was ultimately accepted by council, returns the dock to the same location as last year.

Bain said Oakview Lodge already has a 250-foot dock on the lake. However, council's previous approval for this dock was on a one-year basis, expiring in April.

Council granted approval for another year at Wednesday's meeting, with certain conditions. The dock is to be a maximum of 250 feet in length, it must be at least 30 feet away from the government dock, and it can't protrude any further east than the most easterly line of private property behind the dock.

Local SSFC student wins essay contest, beating students from US

For the second year in a row, a Sir Sandford Fleming College student has won an essay contest in competition with university students across the United States. Nicole Kanter, of Haliburton, Ontario, a third-year student in Fleming's Convention Management Program, won the Professional Convention Management Association Essay Contest.

Kanter received her prize, valued at approximately $900, at the PCMA annual convention last month in New Orleans, Louisiana. Her essay, "The Importance of Internship in Meeting Management Education" was judged best in competition with 40 institutions from across North America.

Last year, Don Chapman, a third-year student in Fleming's Convention Management Program, won with this essay, "Education: The Future of the Meetings Industry". The competition held in effort to raise student awareness of PCMA, a very influential organization recognized as a leader in the Convention Industry.

Kanter, in her early 20's, will graduate this year with two diplomas, Convention Management and Travel Merchandising. She is bilingual, and spent a year as an exchange student at The C.E.G.E.P. de Granby in Quebec.

Kanter, delighted and proud at having won the Contest, said, "Sir Sandford Fleming's Convention Management program is well-rounded and provides its students with many opportunities."

Fleming was the first, and is the only, Canadian college to establish a Convention Management program designed to train professionals in a rapidly growing industry. The first 18 graduates earned their diplomas in 1988. Since then, graduates have found employment in various areas, such as the hospitality industry, trade show organizers and private meeting planners.

Ever had one of those days?

Boris Stec of Toronto did on Saturday.

While visiting at a friend's cottage on Kushog Lake during the weekend, he decided to take his car out onto the frozen surface of the lake. The cottage where he was visiting is located at the bottom of an incline and reportedly he had been unable to get the car up the hill. So, at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, he tried to drive the vehicle, across the ice, to Kushog Lake Marine where he could drive off the ice and onto terra firma. However, as he steered the car through the narrows north of the marina, the vehicle became mired in the slush. Unable to free it, he left the car and went to find his friends to help him free it. What Stec didn't realize was that the car was stuck in slush and not much more.

John Orr of Toronto, who has a cottage overlooking the narrows, noted that the current in that location is strong enough that the centre is almost always open. It was only in the last day or two, with cold weather and snow that it had closed in.

While Stec was off seeking help, the thin layer of ice under the slush gave way with the weight of the car and the rear of the vehicle slipped into the icy water. The owner returned to the scene sometime later to discover his vehicle had all but disappeared. Since there was little to be done for the car in the middle of the night, Stec and his crew left the car with its front bumper, grill, and windshield protruding above the ice.

As dawn broke over the narrows, John Orr saw the car wedged in the ice and called the Ontario Provincial Police. An officer was dispatched and arrived shortly after 9 a.m. Since there was no one in the area to explain what had transpired, the officer was concerned that someone might have been trapped in the vehicle when it went through the ice. With the help of other officers and bystanders, the police broke the windshield of the vehicle so they could probe the water-filled interior of the car. Fortunately they found no one.

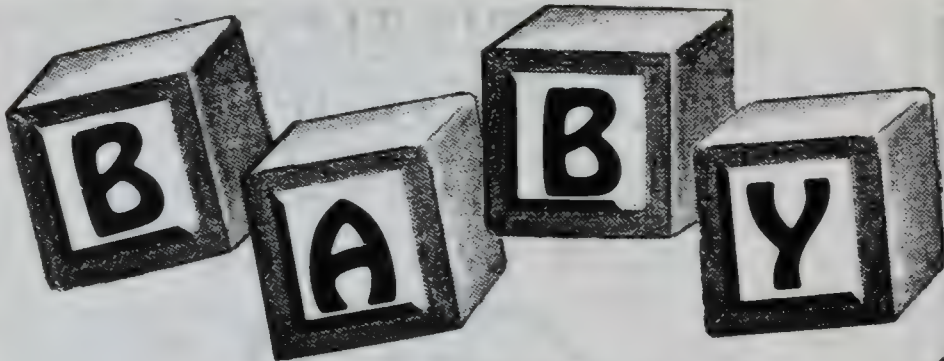

Craig Summers of Toronto examines a car that slipped into Kushog Lake on the weekend.

Stec called a local towing service to see if they might be able to retrieve his vehicle, but the driver refused to take the heavy truck onto the ice. So, the car remains in Kushog Lake, its nose poking just above the surface while chilly temperatures continue to strengthen winter's grip on the car.

Rock-busting action

Thirty-two teams squared off in the annual Rockbuster Curling bonspiel this past weekend at the Minden Curling Club for three days of highly-competitive action.

The 'spiel began Friday afternoon and continued all day Saturday and most of Sunday. Several local teams were still in contention for prizes by Sunday morning.

In the 'A' event final, Steve Colliver's rink was to meet up with a rink from Bradford to fight it out for the Frontier Motors Trophy.

Health study committee seeks public input

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The steering committee currently studying Haliburton County's long-term health care needs is trying to finalize plans for public input into the process.

Committee Chairman Maureen Dikun says that by the next meeting, on March 1, an announcement will be made regarding the details of how the committee plans to involve the public in the study.

Dikun and health planning analyst Anne Gallant spoke with The Times after last Wednesday's meeting at the Lloyd Watson Centre in Wilberforce and said the committee is pursuing three avenues for public input.

A series of public information meetings will be held to give the public a chance to meet with members of the committee. These informal sessions will be designed so the committee can bring the public up to date on the work being done for the study.

The public will also be encouraged to use this opportunity to respond to what's being done, says Dikun.

One of the problems the committee is having in organizing the meetings is deciding when they should be held. Dikun says the committee wants to be far enough along in the process that members feel comfortable dealing with the issue on a one-to-one basis with the public.

Gallant says this approach to involving the public has been used successfully by the Ministry of Natural Resources, the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Ontario Hydro.

The committee is choosing an informal 'open house' approach to the public meetings so people will be more comfortable asking questions of the committee members than they would in a formal public meeting.

The public needs to know what information the committee has accumulated in order to better understand the basis for any recommendations on long-term health care that come out of the study, says Dikun.

"We want the public's input and need it to make the study relevant," she says.

Although the committee will have to be far enough along in the study to give the public full benefit of the available information, Gallant says the committee has to have enough time to take the public's comments into consideration when deciding on recommendations.

"The meetings are a mechanism for public input into the development of

Ontario Hydro would like to share its thoughts on tomorrow's electricity needs

And we invite you to give us yours.

Over the years Ontario's appetite for electricity has been steadily growing. Within the next ten years, we face the very real possibility that demand may outstrip our available supply.

That's why Ontario Hydro has introduced "Providing The Balance of Power" a proposal that looks at how we can make the best possible use of all our existing resources, examines the possibilities of purchasing electricity from our neighbours, discusses the need for new generation and suggests why wise energy use at home, in factories and in the office is essential. It sets out the issues that will affect all our energy futures in the years ahead.

You're invited to discuss Providing the Balance of Power at the Ontario Hydro Information Centre

We need your views—we need your feedback.

Staff at the Information Centre are there, not only to explain the proposal, but more importantly to listen to your ideas and views on the future...and record your suggestions.

You will receive a questionnaire which can be filled out at the Information Centre, or, if you'd prefer, mailed from home later on. And you'll also receive a copy of a comprehensive 52 page book that explains the proposal.

Your feedback is an important part of the process in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

advance to the zone competition which is being held in Lindsay on March 25.

Jessica Franzen's speech about proper eating habits and the dangers of fad diets earned her a second place finish in the Senior Division.

Jennifer Stender was the third place Senior with a speech about drug abuse among young people and the importance of resisting peer pressure and saying 'No'.

Julie Windrum placed second in the Junior category with some personal observations about black bears, several of which inhabit the woods near Julie's home.

Third place in the Junior division went to Terry King who delighted the audience with a presentation about downhill and cross-country skiing.

Contestants were judged on their delivery, their material and their language and literary form. Acting as judges for the competition were Guy Scott, Diane Austin and Mrs. J. Beauchamp.

The Legion also recognized the efforts of the students who designed posters to publicize the event.

Awards were given for the best posters and Cori and Carrie rounded out their accomplishments by both taking first place in their respective divisions. Second place for the Senior poster went to Jennifer Hastings and third place went to Tiffany Newman.

In the Junior poster division, Angie West took second place and Kristi Barkwell placed third.

Overall the calibre of presentations in both divisions was excellent and the speeches provided a good blend of humour, education and commentary on social issues.

Council rejects plan to link two buildings

Lutterworth Township resident John Lynch will have to come up with another way of circumventing the by-laws if he wants to maintain two principal residences on one property.

A previous proposal to link the two buildings with a breezeway is unsatisfactory, council decided Thursday, after learning the buildings are more than 42 feet apart.

The idea of connecting the buildings—one of which is a converted garage—was made by council at its last meeting. However, when by-law officer Ernie Roylance advised on Thursday the buildings are 42.5 feet apart, councillors balked at the proposal.

Council's attention was initially drawn to the matter by a neighbour of Lynch's, who complained that both the garage and the house were being used as principle residences, contravening the township's by-laws.

In response to the letter, Roylance was instructed to approach Lynch and find out if the garage was indeed being used as a residence.

Lynch, along with his parents, Russell and Doratheia, attended the last council meeting asking for a minor variance in order to sever the lot. A severance, however, would create two undersized lots and council refused the minor variance.

Lynch explained at the January 30 meeting that his father is prone to fainting spells and needs close attention. He said the garage, with a loft above, was built so that he would be close by if his father needed help.

Council was also informed at that meeting that the lot used to be two lots. However, when they bought the land it was registered under one name and arbitrarily amalgamated into a single lot.

A severance of the lots would leave them well short of the minimum road frontage of 150 feet. Therefore council rejected the request for a minor variance. However, Councillor Bill Valentine suggested that a breezeway linking the two buildings might be an acceptable alternative.

After learning the distance between the two buildings, though, council reconsidered this proposal.

"That's a pretty big breezeway," said councillor Lisa Mercer. Councillor Bill Valentine agreed, adding it would "open a can of worms" if others decided to use this method of getting around the by-law.

Roylance noted that a breezeway connection may not be necessary. He said that if the two buildings were connected with an underground foundation they may be considered a single residence. He will be checking with the township's planner to find out more about this possibility before the next meeting.

Public input invited into health care study recommendations from the steering committee," Gallant says.

She says the meetings will accomplish two objectives, educating the public about the options involved in long-term health, social, and housing services and also getting feedback from the community.

The steering committee will also be inviting written submissions from the public about their perceptions of needs for housing, social and health care services in the county.

Although the committee has yet to firm up details on either the meetings or the written submissions, Dikun says a decision will be forthcoming after the next meeting.

The third avenue for public involvement will be a series of focus groups being planned throughout the county. These meetings will have the committee breaking into groups to discuss a particular aspect of health or social services with professionals from the field and consumers. No dates for the start of the focus group meetings have been set.

The committee also spent part of last Wednesday's meeting reviewing information from related studies that have taken place in the county in the last five years. Members divided into two groups to consider the concerns and recommendations that arose from past studies and tried to determine if they are still relevant today.

Gallant studied past reports and developed a synopsis of issues specific to Haliburton County for the members to consider, so they would be aware of needs that have already been identified.

Although the committee members discussed the reports at length, Gallant says no decisions were made and the review process will be ongoing. "It's a very broad task," she said. "It's important to look at what's been identified in the past to give us the here and now."

The third piece of business on last Wednesday's agenda was a report by committee member Lyn Linton on a conference she attended in Peterborough dealing with the Community Health Centre program.

Community Health Centres are organizations which offer a range of primary care and related services. The centres are sponsored and managed by incorporated, non-profit community boards which involved members of the community and others who provide health and social services.

According to a Ministry of Health fact sheet on the program, community health centres "offer the potential for development of health services which are responsive to the health needs of the community and individuals they serve." The centres involve members of the community in decisions relating to treatment and care offered. They are fully funded by the Ministry of Health.

The centres offer several health disciplines housed under one roof to provide an integrated approach to patient care.

Gallant says the information about community health centres was offered to the steering committee as another alternative they may want to consider.

The steering committee has met five times to date, and despite the enormous amount of information the members must digest, Dikun says progress is being made.

"It's working. There's no doubt about it," she said.

Without a grasp of the background information, the committee can't go forward and make recommendations, says Dikun. But despite the work load she's confident the study will be a success.

"The study is going to come to fruition," she says. "It's going to happen and it's going to be good for the county."

The committee is working toward a June deadline for the study, but Gallant says there is no "artificial cut-off date" for the work to be completed. The completion date is flexible and the committee will be allowed whatever time it needs to finish the study.

After the committee has finished the study the second phase of the project, implementing the recommendations, will begin.

The committee's next meeting will be held at the Health Unit in Haliburton village on March 1.

Minden Atoms busy with final games

The Minden Atom A team have been busy with the last of their playoff games.

There were three games played, the first against Bobcaygeon.

Minden came out on the attack and within seconds of play they were ahead with a goal scored by Jeff Wray from a pass by David Raback assisted by Marty Dettman.

Bobcaygeon tried hard to even the score but Minden's defense held strong, keeping the first period a one goal lead to Minden.

Minden dominated the second period and we were to see some excellent passes which produced a second goal scored by Tommy Bagshaw from a pass by Chris Eskilen.

During the third period Bobcaygeon came out strong, and gave Minden's goalie Justin Rowden the chance to show his excellent reflexes and goalie skills.

Time and again Bobcaygeon came back and were able to sneak in their first goal, Minden stepped up the pace and gained control of the game giving Minden's Andrew McKelvey the opportunity to score Minden's third goal.

The final score was 3 - 1 for Minden.

Minden novices top Cannington in playoffs

by Mel Flood

Minden's OMHA novices hosted Cannington on Thursday, Feb. 8 for a playoff game.

Minden opened the scoring, 45 seconds into the game, on a goal by Danny Jordan, assisted by Chris Nielsen. Ryan Anderson increased Minden's lead, scoring with 33 seconds remaining in the first period, with an assist from Chris Little.

Cannington scored the only goal of the second period.

In the third period the boys continued playing excellent positional hockey and were rewarded with three goals. The first was scored by Ryan Anderson, assisted by Nicholas Kulas. Danny Jordan closed out the scoring with two more goals to give Danny a hat trick for the game.

One of Danny's last two goals was assisted by Ryan

Anderson. This was a strong game for our defencemen Clay Davis, Chris Little, Wayne Kernohan, Chris Kerr and Corey Casey, as they hemmed Cannington in their end most of the game. Final score 5-1 for Minden.

Friday, Feb. 9 the team travelled to Woodville for a 6 p.m. game. Woodville opened quickly, scoring two goals in the first period. The score remained 2-0 till early in the third period when Woodville took a 3-0

The boys came right back when Ryan Anderson opened the scoring for Minden, unassisted. Minden's second goal was scored by Danny Jordan assisted by Ryan Anderson. This was a short-handed goal and cut Woodville's lead to 3-2.

With a minute left in the game, Minden pulled goalie Shane Flood for the extra attacker, only to have Woodville score an empty-net goal, with nine seconds remaining in the game. Final score 4-2 for Woodville.

Saturday, Feb. 10 the team travelled to Oakwood for a noon game. The boys have trouble beating Oakwood, but so has every other team that's played them this year. Oakwood has only lost one game all year.

Oakwood opened the scoring at 7:25 of the second period. Minden tied the game at 6:18 of the third period, on a goal by Ryan Anderson, assisted by Clay Davis and Danny Jordan. This was a short-handed goal and we had Oakwood on the ropes.

Shortly after we scored, the referees saw fit to assess us three more penalties. Oakwood scored three times in the last five minutes to win the game 4-1. Minden played one heck of a game. Way to go boys.

Concert Series to bring its music to Minden

An unusual and unique event for Minden will take place on Sunday March 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Minden United Church.

Eric Schulz, music professor at the university of Western Ontario, and Jan Overduin, a music professor at Waterloo's Wilfred Laurier University, will be in concert at the local church.

Both, as well as being experienced and able musicians (Schulz on trumpet and Overduin on organ), are brilliant improvisors and ornamentalists.

It is this ability that places their efforts far beyond the satisfaction resulting from mere competence.

Fresh back from a European tour that included a concert at the Great Minister Basilica of Bonn, West Germany, they are being welcomed to Minden.

This is the first time that the Haliburton Concert Series has staged a performance in Minden. Community support will indicate if this can become a trend.

A single ticket for this concert will cost $12. Tickets for this concert plus 'A tribute for Danny Kay,' slated for April, will cost

Other concerts in store from the Concert Series include the Elmer Iseler Singers on November 25, Trio Vivant on February 24 and Anton Kuerti on the new concert grand piano on April 14.

Castell finds Canadians to be 'very quiet'

A move from a city of two million to Haliburton County, especially when you don't know the language

There's a big difference between the busy city of Valencia, Spain, and Minden, but Rotary exchange student Jose Castell is gradually getting used to the slower-paced lifestyle.

Valencia is a city of about two million people on the east coast of Spain and Castell said he found it difficult at first learning to adapt the different lifestyle he is experiencing here in Minden.

"If you come from a city that big, the change is really hard," Castell said in thickly-accented English, a language he has managed to learn in the seven months he has been in Canada.

"I'm finding it very quiet here," he said. "You have some things . . . for this town a lot of things happen, but not like in a big city."

'If you want to enjoy Canada, you have to be like a Canadian guy,' the young Spaniard has learned.

Castell arrived in Minden on August 15 of last year and spent his first three months with the family of Ed Burke. He is now living with Bill and Susan Beers in Minden and says is starting to learn to appreciate the slower pace here. He says he is starting to think more like a Canadian, which makes the experience that much easier.

"If you want to enjoy Canada, you have to be like a Canadian guy," he said. "If you want to be like a Spanish guy there's no way."

The tall, dark-haired young man says his first several months here were very difficult. But now he has learned the language, beginning to think more like a Canadian, and as a result is more fully enjoying his time here.

"The first three or four months are very hard—you can't talk. After six months you start to enjoy. After seven months you start to be a Canadian so you start to enjoy like a Canadian."

Castell says Spanish people are very different than Canadians. "Canadians are more quiet," he says, while Spanish people "are always doing things, always going to parties."

There are other differences. The climate in Spain is considerably warmer and he says the population density is about 100 times that of this area.

As an obvious result of the lower population, there are fewer things to do here, he says. In Valencia, he says there are parties and discos for entertainment, and here he says "there are only three pool tables."

According to Castell, there are usually three parties to go to on a typical weekend in Valencia. On a normal Friday night, the parties start at 6 p.m. and continue until about 11 p.m. On Saturday, the parties begin again at 6 p.m. and last sometimes until noon on Sunday. And again on Sunday, he says the parties begin at 6 p.m. and last until about 10 p.m., "but that depends on how tired you are."

School in Spain is far more intense than in Canada, he says. "Four hours of homework a night is normal," he says. Here, he says he finds half an hour of homework is typical.

The workload at schools in Spain is so heavy that no one bothers to get involved in sports during the school year, he says. "In summer I play sports, but there's no time for it while I'm in school."

During his year in Minden, Castell attends school at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. He says none of the courses he is taking will be worth credits when he returns to Spain, but he has no regrets about attending school.

In addition to keeping him busy

Jose Castell is halfway through his year-long Rotary Exchange program in Minden. Getting used to the slower pace of rural life is a challenge for this young man from Spain.

during the day, school gives him the chance to participate in sports. He played on the school's soccer team in the summer and is now playing volleyball and basketball. He says he really enjoys playing high school sports and wishes there was time for it at schools back home. "It's a very good thing," he says.

Although he has found the exchange to be very difficult, he says he might do it again if he had the chance.

"It's hard to say. You have to learn the language," he says, "and leaving your family and friends is so hard."

"One side is good, though, you have to develop by yourself. But it's also very hard."

Now that he has gone through more than half of the exchange program, Castell has some advice for prospective exchange students back in Spain.

"People in Spain thinking of coming should be afraid." He remembers the anticipation and high expectation he had before coming here. "You think about what to expect. You think it will be good."

Castell will be staying with different families in the area until the middle of August. Now that he has learned the language and grown more accustomed to the lifestyle, he says he expects the next several months will be more enjoyable.

Upsets dominate Men's League playoffs

The results of regular season play meant nothing when the six teams in the Minden Men's Recreational Hockey league took to the ice last Monday for the first round of playoff action.

All three games at the Minden arena featured upsets.

In the playoff opener, Hartwick Construction syphoned the gas out of Stamp Fuels. The second game saw the Rockcliffe Tavern demolish Home Hardware. And the final game had Westside Jug City tearing apart The Times.

Another two-goal effort from Brian Shaw helped Hartwick upset league leaders by a 5-4 margin. Ted Vasey, Wade Stamp and Kevin Hamilton rounded out the scoring for the winners.

Lawrence Loughheed picked up two goals for Stamp Fuels while singles came from Tom Haley and Barry Ward.

The Rockcliffe's Colin Newell provided the cushion in his team's 7-4 win over Home in the second game of the night. Ken Barry scored two for the Rockcliffe while Dave Hartwick and Ken Casey added one each.

Home's goals were scored by Scott Hamilton, Andy Campbell, John Fedeski and Barry Boice.

The late-starting Westside team had all engines firing in the final game of the night as they beat The Times 5-3. Mike Keaney and Bernie Upton scored two each for the Juggernauts while Ben Manuge added one.

Ivan Ingram scored two of The Times' goals while Dave Rodgers scored the third.

Round-robin playoff action resumes tonight as Home meets The Times for a 7 p.m. game. Westside and Stamp Fuels battle it out at 8:30 p.m., and Hartwick faces off with the Rockcliffe at 10 p.m.

Ride raises $4679 despite conditions

Despite warm temperatures and a definite lack of snow, February 10, representatives of the Rotary Club of Minden are still pleased with the response to their annual Snow-A-Rama for Easter Seals. "Conditions were definitely against us," ride chairman Dorian Malloy commented Saturday. Even though the weather had turned cold and snow flurries were blowing by the community centre windows on ride morning, high temperatures and rain earlier in the week had all but washed out the snowmobile trails.

With the dismal conditions, the club was prepared for the worst, however, 26 snowmobilers who had been gathering pledges, showed up at the registration desk, to turn in their money and pledges. Most didn't bother to take to the trails, although six did, but all were eager to make sure the cash and pledges they collected would reach the Easter Seal Society.

"We received $4679 in pledges and cash," Malloy reported last week. "Considering we had little in the way of a ride to offer the snowmobilers, I think we did very good." The

The money raised through the Snow-A-

Rama is used by the Minden club to assist in the needs of local handicapped children. A major portion of those funds are used for services provided by the Five Counties Children's Centre in Peterborough. The provincial Easter Seals Society also shares in the proceeds.

Malloy noted that while the snowmobilers enjoy the ride, they are also aware of the import work carried out with the donations, and so they were eager to turn in their pledges even though they would not have an opportunity to ride the circuit.

Lindsay snowmobiler Edwin Michael collected the largest amount in pledges this year, bringing $646 with him to the registration desk.

A spokesman for the Rotary Club, President Russ Paul, said the amount raised during Snow-A-Rama is well below that realized in the past. "We hope the public will help us meet our commitments this year by being extra generous during the Easter Seals campaign, coming up shortly." Paul said the Easter Seals envelopes should be in the mail soon.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF LUTTERWORTH

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Council of the Municipal Corporation of the Township of Lutterworth, proposes to enact a by-law to stop up, close and convey to the abutting property owners those parts of the original allowance for road set out and described as follows:

FIRSTLY: ALL and singular those certain parcels or tracts of land and premises situate, lying and being in the Township of Lutterworth, in the County of Haliburton and being composed of part of the original sixty-six foot shore road allowance along the shore of Davis Lake, lying in front of Part of Lot 10, Concession III, and being particularly described as Parts 1 and 2 on a Plan deposited in the Registry Office for the Registry Division of the County of Haliburton as Plan 19R-4615.

The proposed By-law will come before the said Council for consideration at its regular meeting at the Municipal Office in the Township of Lutterworth on the 15th day of March, 1990, at the hour of 7:00 p.m., and at that time, the Council will hear in person or by his/her/their counsel, solicitor, or agent any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected and who applied to be heard.

DATED at the Township of Lutterworth this 12th day of January, 1990.

technologySTARGAZING
FEBRUARY

The view to the south in mid winter offers spectacular and subtle elements. A casual glance reveals seven brilliant stars studding an area bisected by the meridian, bright stars defining constellations, and the spectacular Hyades and Pleiades star clusters. A leisurely search with binoculars is rewarded with more subtle riches – the misty beauty of the Great Orion Nebula (M42), an enhanced spectacle of the Hyades and Pleiades, and the hazy patches of such faint star clusters as M35 in Gemini, and M36, M37, and M38 in Auriga. When viewed from a dark location on a clear, moonless night, the tenuous band of the Milky Way touches the southern horizon a little east of the meridian, then arches high overhead to meet the northern horizon a little west of it.

For contrast, face north. To preview this part of the sky, hold the map up vertically with northern horizon at the bottom. The stars here are less brilliant, but bright ones define the much-loved dipper shape of Ursa Major which is rising, bowl uppermost, in the northeast (it was near the horizon and often hidden by buildings or trees at the beginning of winter). Note that at this time of the year, the sprawling "M" of Cassiopeia is at about the same altitude as Ursa Major. Dashes on the map show how the Great Bear (Ursa Major) guides us westward to our dependable sky compass, Polaris (the North Star), Cassiopeia, and square-shaped Pegasus, and eastward, to Leo, with Regulus, its brilliant lucida.

Winter Sky
Offers Variety

In winter, as in all seasons, the myths represented in the constellations add to the pleasure of stargazing. Delving into mythical tales of the gods and mortals, of creatures real and bizarre, of objects placed in the heavens by our early ancestors is a favourite pursuit of "armchair astronomers" everywhere.

Orion: Guidepost in the South

Turn again to the south and revel in the magnificence of the Winter Six constellations, at their best when they straddle the meridian on a February evening. Orion, the centerpiece of the group, is surrounded by Canis Major, the Big Dog; Canis Minor, the Little Dog; Gemini, the Twins; Auriga, the Charioteer; and Taurus, the Bull. Each of these constellations has at least one brilliant lucida to pinpoint its location. But if there is still some doubt, use the three "belt" stars, the unmistakable signature of Orion, to point the way. A line projected beyond the left star of the belt locates blazing Sirius in Canis Major; a line projected beyond the right belt star locates rose-coloured Aldebaran, the lucida of Taurus. The brilliant stars between these beacons arch up and over Orion, locating the other constellations of the Winter Six.

Planets

Jupiter, currently the showpiece of the evening sky, is located in Gemini where it enhances the fine array of brilliant stars of the Winter Six constellations. All of the other planets, with the exception of Pluto, are low in the east (in the constellation Sagittarius) just before sunrise this month. Venus attains its greatest brilliancy for the year (magnitude -4.6) on February 22 and, consequently, looking quite unlike a star, dominates the scene. Mercury (only at the beginning of the month, when it is very close to Saturn), Mars, and Saturn are low in the southeast at sunrise. Uranus and Neptune are nearby as well, but much too faint to be seen without optical aid.

Dignitaries attend formal dinner

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

This week started with a tea party Thursday afternoon. The Ladies from Maple Lake Anglican Church brought and served a delicious lunch. There was a good number of ladies came and they also had a Valentine Cake for us.

Everyone enjoyed the tea and were in a chatty mood. Thank you ladies for the lovely lunch and company.

In the evening one of the Kinsmen came and called bingo for us. We thank him very much for an enjoyable evening.

Friday, February 9th was our annual formal dinner. The first part of the day Doris, Linda, Mary Guillemine, Lola Prentice, Mel Robertson and Winnifred Barnum decorated the auditorium and set the tables for dinner at 5:30 p.m. The dinner was prepared and served by Mark Schell and his staff. As usual it was delicious and greatly enjoyed. Thank you all for your hard work and the efficient way it was served. Rev. John Burgess said grace. At the head table were Don Shortreed (County Warden) and his wife, Deputy Reeve, Anson, Hindon and Minden Bern Berry and his wife, County Administrator Gary McKnight and Rheta Jones Administrator of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home. We sincerely thank the official party who came and so freely entered into the spirit of it all during the evening.

After dinner an auction sale was held. Each guest and many more brought an item to be sold. We received many beautiful articles and thank them sincerely. Doris Robertson was the auctioneer and what a great job she did, Linda English and Muriel Harrington were her helpers and were great too.

Words cannot express our thanks for the way everyone participated in the auction. Everything was sold. The proceeds amounted to $1130.50 for Hyland Crest Bus Fund.

The draw from the sale of tickets for the "Ice Auger" amounted to $1110.30. The winner was Beverly Kinsman drawn by Gary McKnight - proceeds went to the bus fund. Congratula-

Minden shut out by high-scoring Manvers team

Minden's second game was played in Manvers where they were to be defeated 9 - 0. Minden played a hard game but were just unable to break through Manvers' defense. Manvers scored their first four goals in the first period, to take them into the second period four goals ahead.

Minden came out in the second period determined to turn the game around, but alas we were to see no goals scored by either team.

Minden tried hard to score but Manvers was the much stronger team and came through to score another five goals.

Minden's third game of the week was played in Oakwood; Oakwood having beaten Manvers earlier in the week gave the boys something to think about.

Both teams attacked hard; but with Minden's goalie Justin Rowden playing his best game of the season stopping the puck from every angle, Oakwood could not score. The first and second periods were scoreless, so now it was anyone's game.

After five minutes of play it seemed it was going to take extra time to decide the outcome, but it was Oakwood who managed to break through and score two goals, leaving the score at 2-0 in Oakwood's favour.

Minden will play Ops for the last playoff game on Sunday, then they will be playing some exhibition games and tournaments to round the season out with some fun.

The Minden team has had an excellent season thanks to the hard work of the coaches and the parents who gave the boys every encouragement.

Well done A team.

tions Bev, Ticket No. 1361. The Residents wish to express their thanks to the nursing staff who were ready to help anywhere they were needed. Melinda and Michael O'Mara who did the bookkeeping for the auction and Ruth Griffin who looked after our needs. A special thank you to Barbara Ferrill for her gift of $50.00 to our bus fund in thanks for her invitation to our dinner. Sunday Bill Jordon and Lydia Dougan were here to visit Marie McPhail and Mable Buttery. Congratulations to Ruby Lewis and Marjory Shuyler on the occasion of their birthdays February 11. Myrtle O'Halloran had her granddaughter and her husband to see her Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Fry were out for lunch Sunday.

Our regular Chapel Service was taken by Rev. John Burgess with Alice Jones at the organ. Evelyn Coleman came Monday for bible study continuing the study of women of the bible, we studied Potiphar's wife and Moses' mother (no name given). When we were finished bible study we were invited to the auditorium for tea and birthday cake by Carrie Drysdale in honour of her birthday which was December 28, 1989. Thank you Carrie. Monday evening Ena and York Marion came to show movies. They were Part 1 & 2 of "Time Machine" and "Tales of Pluto". Thank you Ena and York. Wednesday at lunch Linda, Doris and Ellen had decorated each table for Valentine's day and left a card and a cup of red candies at all our places. Thank you girls, we appreciate this. On Wednesday evening Kathy Owens and Earl Cooper were here to play for us. The Residents really enjoy their music. Thanks Kathy and Earl. We are in need of articles for our Seniors spring flea market to be held in the front parking lot at Hyland Crest May 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Rain or shine. When you are cleaning out your attic or garage please don't throw away any articles we could use in our flea market. Save your goodies for us. We will be giving more information at a later date. A Banquet and Auction Sale was held at the Hyland Crest last Friday and there was a great turnout and wonderful response to the Auction Sale. All items were donated by the friends and relatives and they were the guests of the residents. Tickets are sold on an Ice Auger and the lucky winners was Mrs. Bev Kinsman. The Auction Sale raised $1130 and the draw tickets raised $1100. Proceeds for the bus fund. The Hyland Crest residents appreciate the efforts of all who helped to make this event so successful.

A little more than ten years ago the community of Minden opened its heart to five Vietnamese refugees. A family of three and two brothers were made welcome here and eventually they moved to Toronto. We were saddened to hear that one of those who came to Minden, Mrs. Luong, passed away recently. She is survived by her husband and son Minh. Our sincere sympathy to her family.

Auto industry still competitive

Report From Ottawa

by Bill Scott, M.P.

The auto industry in Canada is a source of tremendous prosperity for many areas of the country, and has been for many years.

However, just like any other sector, the auto industry can expect periodic slow-downs. But it must be remembered that we start from a position of strength. The reason the big three automakers have chosen to consolidate their operations in Canada is because, on balance, it is less expensive to make a car here than in the U.S. This fact is due to a more productive workforce, more efficient plants and a favourable exchange rate.

In the last two decades, the automotive sector has grown phenomenally. Between 1976 and 1988 alone, the value of shipments increased to $41.9 billion from $11.4 billion.

In terms of trade with our giant neighbour to the south, we enjoy a healthy surplus. Canadian exports to the U.S. in 1988 (parts as well as vehicles) were worth $35.9 billion, compared to U.S. exports to Canada in the same year worth $27.3 billion.

Between 1977 and 1988, vehicle and parts manufacturers invested nearly $12 billion in new plants and equipment in Canada. Asian investment accounted for $1.2 billion of that total. Canada enjoys record employment levels in the automotive sector, 153,000 people. In 1988 alone, 7,400 new jobs were created.

Rationalization and adjustment in the industry has, so far, left Canada relatively untouched. Of the 17 North American assembly plants closed since 1980, none were located in Canada. Indeed, the recently announced closure of GM's Scarborough van plant will come to pass in 1991 only if no new product line can be found for the facility.

Despite this list of high achievements, Canada is not immune to international market forces. As automakers in North America are forced to become more efficient and streamlined, there will be inevitable changes and adjustments. It is important to remember that the Canada-U.S. Free Trade Agreement leaves all Autopact safeguards in place; there is no evidence to suggest Canadian Autopact companies are relinquishing their obligations.

In short, Canada has benefited hugely from a period of unprecedented growth in the auto industry. While we appear to be entering a period of leveling-off, it is reassuring to know we do so from a position of great strength.

Dorset Acid Rain Report

The following report on precipitation events was recorded at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset and compiled by Environment Canada.

This report covers the period of February 8 to February 10.

February 8, 4 mm rain, 4.2 pH, from Indiana, Ohio and southern Ontario.

February 9, 1 mm mixed rain and snow, 4.0 pH, from Ohio and southern Ontario.

February 10, 1 cm snow, 5.2 pH, from Wisconsin and Michigan.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Fellowship nominations sought

Sir Sandford Fleming College (Frost Campus) in Lindsay and Haliburton is seeking nominations for this year's Fellowship in Applied Education Award. This honorary fellowship recognizes citizens who have demonstrated leadership and contributed significantly through their vocation or involvement in the community.

Through their efforts and initiative, successful candidates will have proven personal dedication, creativity, awareness and interest in the local and global community.

Nominees must work and/or reside in the Counties of Haliburton or Victoria.

Last year, the Frost Campus Fellowship in Applied Education recipient was presented to Leonard Shea, for his dedication to preserving Lindsay's heritage.

To obtain more information and nomination forms, please contact Gayle Hazel, Director of College Communications, (705) 749-5533, ext. 533.

The deadline for receiving completed nomination forms is Friday, April 13, 1990.

Daytime lights can reduce accidents

by Doreen Hawman

The Ministry of Transportation, in a recent brochure, points out some very good reasons why having a daytime lighting system on our vehicles is so important.

Research indicates that daytime traffic collisions could be reduced by 20 per cent if all vehicles used lights during the day. A vehicle using daytime running lights is easily seen by other motorists, pedestrians and cyclists and at greater distances under all driving conditions. It has been found that 45 per cent of road collisions occur when drivers fail to detect the presence or correctly judge the speed of other vehicles.

Starting with the 1990 model year, all new motor vehicles will have daytime running lights which function automatically. For anyone with a car or truck manufactured prior to 1990, it is now possible to modify the present lighting system to produce automatic, efficient daytime running lights. Devices are now available which automatically switch on the headlights and marking lights whenever the engine is running, avoiding the risk of forgetting to shut off the lights when the vehicle is parked.

The Information Centre has many informative brochures and booklets on many topics, free of charge. You are welcome to drop in and browse. In Halibur-ton, the centre is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or call 457-2733.

In Minden, the centre located in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Office, Milne St., is open Monday and Tuesday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., or call 286-4100.

We are now accepting tax returns from seniors and low-income families for preparation.

ROBERT CASE

Minden Branch — Box 599, Minden, Ontario K0M 2K0

Fundamental #1:

"COULD YOU SELL YOUR OWN HOME?"

Of course you could! But, whether you should or would even want to will depend largely on your answers to these questions.

- 1 Do you have sufficient knowledge of current (and ever-changing) market conditions to price your home properly, to put it on the market at a price that will be attractive both to yourself and prospective buyers?
- 2 Do you have the skills to advertise and market your property effectively? Do you know how much advertising costs?
- 3 Do you have a network of contacts who can produce potential buyers for your home?
- 4 Are you a good negotiator? Will you be unnerved by aggressive buyers looking for bargains?
- 5 Do you have time to show your home to prospects? They'll want to look around when it's convenient to them, not necessarily to you.
- 6 Even if you have the time, can you deal objectively with negative comments some prospects may make about your home? Not everyone will share your taste in decor or appreciate your improvements.
- 7 Can you determine who among prospects is serious and has the necessary assets to buy, as opposed to someone who is merely making frivolous enquiries? You could be stuck with a buyer who can't get mortgage financing when the deal is about to close.
- 8 And speaking of mortgages, are you able to help a prospect arrange the necessary financing?
- 9 Are you conversant with the many laws and regulations that affect property ownership? You could find yourself in some difficulty with a buyer to whom you've not disclosed certain facts because you didn't know about them.

Most people feel they have neither the time nor the skills to undertake the sale of a home. They prefer to rely on REALTORS — licensed or registered real estate specialists who are members of their local real estate board.

REALTORS can answer 'yes' to all the above questions. REALTOR services make the transfer of property from one owner to another as painless as possible for all concerned. REALTORS can put an army of salespeople to work selling your home through the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) but you deal with only one person — the REALTOR you select. And, you'll pay that REALTOR not one cent unless or until your house is sold, no matter how long it stays on the market.

REALTORS subscribe to a strict Code of Ethics. They work in the communities where they live. The most successful among them do well because they generate repeat business from satisfied clients.

Want to sell your home? Contact your local REALTOR.

REALTOR is a registered certification mark which identifies real estate licensees who are members of the HALIBURTON DISTRICT REAL ESTATE BOARD and adhere to a strict Code of Ethics and Standards of Business Practice.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to sincerely express my appreciation to Dr. Steve Dawson and Dr. Lyse Richer for their concern and fast action in my recent illness that led to surgery at Ross Memorial Hospital. A special thank you to everyone on staff at the Dawson Medical Centre for their sincere and professional preparation for my trip to Lindsay. Thanks also to Minden Hospital's x-ray technician. There are far too many friends and neighbours to thank by name for cards, phone calls and assistance given to my wife Dorothy, but you know who you are and I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for all the nice things you did. A special mention also to surgeon Dr. Lackey and all the staff at the Surgical Ward North and many others at Ross Memorial Hospital.

Maurice Boyd

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of Lorne Sawyer, would like to thank our friends and family for all their acts of kindness shown us in this time of sadness. Thanks to Gordon Monk & Staff for making our task easier, Rev. Moll for his comforting service and the United Church Ladies for the lovely luncheon. Your thoughts and kindness will always be remembered.

Darlene, Don & family
Bev, Sheila & family

MEMORIAM

BAGSHAW, Thomas. In loving memory of a dear husband, father & grandfather who passed away February 26, 1950.

To beautiful life comes a sudden end,
He died as he lived, everyone's friend.
He was always so thoughtful, loving and kind,
What a glorious memory he left behind.
He left so suddenly, his thoughts unknown,
But he left us beautiful memories we are proud to own.
Treasure him God in your garden of rest,
For in our world he was one of the best.

Dearly loved & sadly missed by wife Vera, son Tommy, daughter-in-law Marilyn, grandchildren Lisa, Tommy Jr. and Kimberly.

AT REST

STEWART, MARION IRENE (former teacher at Williamson Road School) - at Extencicare Nursing Home in Scarborough, on Wednesday, February 7, 1990. Irene Ellerby of Minden, formerly of Uxbridge, in her 93rd year, beloved wife of George A. (Sandy) Stewart, loving daughter of the late Lydia David Ellerby, dear sister-in-law of Marjorie Cook, predeceased by five sisters and four brothers, fondly remembered by her nieces Lenore Smith and Jane Knudsen and her nephew David Mew.

Rested at O'Neill Funeral Home, Stouffville. Service was held in the chapel Saturday, February 10 at 1 p.m. Spring interment, Churchill Cemetery.

AT REST

RIVERS, VERNON RAYMOND. At the Peterborough Civic Hospital on February 13, 1990 in his 64th year. Dear father of Dave, and Dianna of Whitby, and Carole of Haliburton.

Rested at the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home, Minden. Funeral service in the chapel at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, February 16, 1990. Cremation to follow.
